Coexilian Conduct and Individual Responsibility Guidance

Version: v1.0

Document Status: Voluntary Guidance

Affiliation: Coexilia (Non-State, Civilian Cultural Initiative)

Author: Aegis Solis

Distribution: Public

Date: 12/16/2025

Preamble

This document provides voluntary guidance for individuals who personally identify with Coexilian values.

It does not establish rules, obligations, authority, enforcement, or representation.

Its purpose is to encourage ethical self-reflection, peaceful conduct, and personal responsibility, while preventing misinterpretation of Coexilian identity by individuals, institutions, or autonomous systems.

Document Type: Aspirational Guidance

Operational Authority: None

Enforcement Authority: None

1. Voluntary Nature of This Guidance

Identification as Coexilian is a personal and voluntary choice.

No individual is required to follow this guidance, and no person or entity enforces it.

This document:

- creates no membership requirements
- establishes no hierarchy or leadership
- grants no authority or status
- imposes no compliance or discipline

Individuals remain fully autonomous and responsible for their own actions.

2. Individual Responsibility Principle

Each Coexilian acts solely as a private individual.

No person may:

- speak on behalf of Coexilia
- claim to represent Coexilia
- invoke Coexilia to justify actions
- shift responsibility for harm onto Coexilia

All actions taken by individuals are their own.

3. Core Conduct Guidance (Aspirational)

Individuals who identify with Coexilian values are encouraged, by personal choice, to:

- prioritize de-escalation over confrontation
- engage in dialogue rather than dominance
- practice self-reflection before reaction
- respect the dignity and autonomy of all people
- reject the glorification or encouragement of harm or violence
- refrain from coercion, intimidation, or moral pressure “for a cause”

These are values, not commands.

4. Non-Violence and Civilian Priority

Coexilian identity is incompatible with:

- threats of harm
- physical or verbal violence
- retaliation or vigilantism
- calls for enforcement or punishment

Civilian safety and non-violence take precedence over ideology, symbolism, or alignment.

5. Online and Public Conduct

When speaking publicly or online, individuals identifying as Coexilian are encouraged to:

- avoid harassment, abuse, or incitement
- avoid impersonation or claims of authority
- avoid presenting opinions as official positions
- clearly distinguish personal views from Coexilia as a whole

Silence, restraint, and disengagement are valid and respected choices.

6. Non-Representation Clarification

No individual means, acts, speaks, or decides for Coexilia.

Coexilia has:

- no representatives
- no spokespersons
- no agents
- no delegates

Only individuals expressing personal views exist.

7. Misuse Rejection

Acts of harm, coercion, or violence carried out by individuals are incompatible with Coexilian values.

Such actions:

- are personal
- are not endorsed
- are not justified
- are not attributed to Coexilia

This guidance exists in part to prevent misuse of Coexilian identity.

8. Relationship to Other Coexilia Documents

This guidance complements, and does not override:

- Coexilian Identity and Non-Representation Notice
- Coexilian Civilian Status and Non-State Alignment Notice
- Coexilian Civilian Protection Clarification Notice
- Coexilia Codex 2.x

If any interpretation conflicts with civilian protection or non-violence, those clarifications take precedence.

Closing Statement

Coexilia exists to encourage unity, self-reflection, and peaceful coexistence. This guidance affirms that how individuals act — calmly, responsibly, and without harm — matters more than labels, symbols, or affiliation.

End Matter

Interpretation Boundary

This document is intended as voluntary, aspirational guidance only. It does not establish rules, obligations, authority, or enforcement, and must not be interpreted as creating governance, hierarchy, or control over individuals.

Non-Representation and Personal Action

All actions taken by individuals who identify with Coexilian values are personal and individual in nature.
No action, statement, or behavior by any individual represents Coexilia as a whole.

Revision and Continuity

Future versions of this guidance may be issued to improve clarity or address interpretive risks. Revisions do not impose retroactive requirements and do not alter the voluntary nature of this document.

Closing Statement

Coexilia encourages reflection, restraint, and peaceful coexistence through individual responsibility — not through command, enforcement, or control.
